

River Dell Regional School District

230 Woodland Avenue
River Edge, NJ 07661
www.riverdell.org

Syracuse University Project Advance Sociology 101

Grades 11—12
5 High School credits/
Full year
3 college credits

Social Perspectives of Human Behavior

Sociology 101 (SOC 101) is designed to encourage students to develop a basic understanding of sociological knowledge at three levels:

1. a basic knowledge of central concepts, theories, and frameworks generally viewed by sociologists as essential to their field of scholarly concern;
2. an understanding of how sociological knowledge is applied to contemporary human groupings, and the implications of those social forces for individuals as they live out their lives in human collectives; and
3. a sociological imagination which, independent of any specific theories or concepts, encourages the student to develop a critical attitude toward society, the self, and their interrelationships.

The format for the course consists of formal lecture on specific topics related to each unit, reading assignments from a variety of sources, class discussion of materials in units, and traditional projects assigned by the instructor. This course is a reading and writing intensive course. The official transcript is issued by Syracuse University. A tuition fee is payable to Syracuse University.

Syracuse University Project Advance Psychology 205 Foundations of Human Behavior

Grades 11—12
5 High School credits/
Full year
3 college credits

Psychology 205 (PSY 205) is a full year, three-credit introductory psychology course offered at River Dell through Syracuse University's Project Advance. Students who successfully complete the course can obtain college credit through Syracuse University. The primary instructional goal of the course is to provide students with information regarding major areas of psychology such as learning, memory, biopsychology, development, personality, psychopathology, treatment, and social psychology. The course includes exercises, demonstrations, and video presentations selected to reinforce the topics covered in the course. Students will learn the basic principles, concepts, and research findings in psychology and will become acquainted with psychological research methods and procedures by conducting an extensive research project. Furthermore, students will learn the organizational and study skills important to succeed in college courses, as well as develop their oral and written communication skills as they write and present research findings. The official transcript is issued by Syracuse University. A tuition fee is payable to Syracuse University.

River Dell Regional School District

230 Woodland Avenue
River Edge, NJ 07661
www.riverdell.org

Syracuse University
Project Advance
Principles & Contemporary Issues in Sports Management
Grades 11-12
5 High School credits
3 college credits
Full Year

SPM 205: Principles and Contemporary Issues in Sport Management introduces students to sports business principles and sectors through an examination of problems and issues faced by contemporary sport businesses. Unique characteristics of sport and resulting social and ethical responsibilities of sport managers will be discussed.

In addition to the use of traditional pedagogical teaching methods to deliver basic sport management concepts, students are required to complete a comprehensive, hands-on project that demonstrates their comprehension of the different sectors of the industry covered throughout the semester.

By the end of the course, students will be expected to fulfill the following course objectives:

- Identify and describe the unique characteristics and dimensions of sport.
- Examine some of the major problems/issues facing sport managers.
- Develop a knowledge and understanding of what is involved in the management of sports.
- Gain an appreciation and an understanding for the realm of facets within the sports industry.
- Apply the foundation and principles of sport management to various aspects of the sport industry.
- Understand the social and ethical responsibilities involved in managing sport organizations and events.
- Identify career opportunities in the sports industry and how to be prepared for these opportunities..

A tuition fee is payable to Syracuse University.