

How To Cite:

TeenBiz3000/ACHIEVE3000

To cite an article from TeenBiz/ACHIEVE, follow these directions.

1. First, identify all citation elements needed:

2. Create a new citation

- Say Where it is and What it is – for Achieve3000 articles, you are citing ‘Original Content’ from a ‘Database,’ like this:

The screenshot shows the NoodleTools interface for creating a new citation. A red arrow points from the text in the previous block to the "Create new citation" dialog box. In this dialog, the "Where is it?" dropdown menu is set to "Database", and the "What is it?" dropdown menu is set to "Original Content in Database".

Where is it?	What is it?
Database	Original Content in Database
